I am looking for something like this: if ($this->isControllerExecuting($controller)) { // Do something } As you can imagine, it will be pretty ugly to have to manually check if I am in the controller for every action in the controller I am executing. I need to be able to do something to the effect of if ($this->currentController == $controller) { Any suggestions? A: You can use Symfony\Bundle\FrameworkBundle\Controller\ControllerNameController::isActionExecutable to check if the controller is active. Norepinephrine (NE) functions to maintain arterial pressure and modulate cardiac function. To maintain stable blood pressure and to respond to a rapid change in blood pressure, NE is released in a tonic and phasic manner. Many processes have been reported to be regulated by NE, including water intake, salt appetite, thyroid hormone secretion, anxiety, and respiratory rate. The sympatho-adrenal system is the major source of tonic NE release, and the locus coeruleus (LC) and nucleus of the tractus solitarius (NTS) are thought to be the major source of phasic NE release. The recent characterization of the NE transporters NET and NET2 (also known as SLC6A2 and SLC6A3, respectively) has demonstrated their role in the regulation of tonic and phasic NE release. Since NET2 is only expressed in the CNS, this transporter may be a key regulator of NE activity in the brain. In fact, NET2 has been shown to play a role in the 82157476af
